THE SCHOOL OF ART AND DESIGN AT THE UNIVERSITY OF ILLINOIS AT URBANA-CHAMPAIGN

The MFA Studio and Design Programs at the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign are committed to training artists at the highest professional levels, offering a three-year MFA degree with specializations in Painting, Sculpture, New Media, Metals, Ceramics, Photography, Graphic Design, and Industrial Design. The MFA program at the University of Illinois emphasizes the development of individual or collaborative practice in preparation for careers in both fine arts and client based contexts, including gallery practice, university research/ education, public or community-based work, curatorial practice, performance or activism. MFA students at the University of Illinois are typically motivated, independent, and interested in contextualizing their practices within a stimulating environment of rigorous interdisciplinary research and critique. The University of Illinois Graduate Faculty are nationally recognized artists and designers—active at the highest levels of academic, professional and creative production. Current faculty in the MFA Studio and Design programs include: Conrad Bakker, Luke Batten, Stephen Cartwright, Nan Goggin, Ryan Griffis, Patrick Hammie, Laurie Hogin, Emmy Lingscheit, Melissa Pokorny, Linda Robbennolt, Joel Ross, Ernesto Scott, Billie Theide, Deke Weaver, Eric Benson, Kathleen Meaney, Matthew Peterson, Brad Tober, William Bullock, Deana McDonagh, Kevin Reeder, Cliff Shin, and David Weightman.
